

This illustration shows the Infocus projector and its accessories. At the top left is a remote control with various buttons and the 'Infocus' logo. To its right is the projector unit, a rectangular device with a lens on the front and a display on top. Below these are three cables: a short cable with a small connector, a longer cable with a standard connector, and another longer cable with a different connector. At the bottom center is an open cardboard box with a large blue arrow pointing upwards from it, indicating the contents.
